To Whom It May Concern,

Working with RePower Canada has been a very positive experience for us.

We first became involved with RePower about 2 years ago while investigating areas where costs savings in our facility could be achieved through the reduction of our environmental footprint. RePower was very proficient in providing us with a number of low cost solutions in these areas that have already saved us both money and time. Questions were answered quickly, reports were professionally done and the staff has always been friendly and courteous.

We look forward to working with RePower again in the near future.
